

February 8, 1918.

Lighthouse Canning Co.,
Astoria, Oregon.

Gentlemen:

On December 22, 1917, this Bureau addressed a letter to you which was as follows:

Referring to your report of fishery operations at Cordova, Alaska, in 1917, it is noted that this report is prepared and signed by James Brunner, Pres. Lighthouse Canning Co. Last year Mr. Brunner signed a report of operations at Cordova stated in the name of the Lighthouse Canning & Packing Co. If these names are for one and the same company, please advise as to which one is the real name of the corporation.

It is further noted that you have reported the number of persons employed and amount of wages paid in the following manner: "Average 75 employees including diggers, office help and cannery labor - whites - $22,555.15." Please classify these employees so as to show the number of diggers as fishermen and the number of cannery laborers including office force as shoresmen, and make report of the same to this Bureau, together with the amount of wages paid the respective classes of employees.

Under "Miscellaneous Products" you have shown the quantity of clams handled at your plant as 26,008, but failed to specify the unit of measurement. Does the number mentioned refer to cases?

An early explanation of these matters will be appreciated.

Please give the matters referred to in that letter your early attention and make prompt report to this Bureau in order that completion of our reports be not unnecessarily delayed.

Very truly yours,

H. F. Moore.

Acting Commissioner.
